

Take time and ask yourself...

What does spirituality mean to me?

Who am I?

What helps me feel connected?

What gives my life meaning?

For more information about
Spiritual Care Services, go to:
[www.albertahealthservices.ca/
services/page13213.aspx](http://www.albertahealthservices.ca/services/page13213.aspx)

1-877-303-2642

Mental Health Help Line
Mental Health Support 24/7

➤ To order this resource go to:
<https://dol.datacm.com/>
Login ID: mentalhealthresources
Password: mh2016
Item Number: SC001

Produced by Mental Health Promotion & Illness Prevention.
For more information or a reference list for this resource,
email: hpdip.mh.earlyid@ahs.ca

Copyright 2020, Alberta Health Services, Mental Health Promotion & Illness Prevention, Spiritual Care. This material is protected by Canadian and other international copyright laws. All rights reserved. These materials may not be copied, published, distributed or reproduced in any way in whole or in part without the express written permission of Alberta Health Services. These materials are intended for general information only and are provided on an "as is", "where is" basis. Although reasonable efforts were made to confirm the accuracy of the information, Alberta Health Services does not make any representation or warranty, express, implied or statutory, as to the accuracy, reliability, completeness, applicability or fitness for a particular purpose of such information. These materials are not a substitute for the advice of a qualified health professional. Alberta Health Services expressly disclaims all liability for the use of these materials, and for any claims, actions, demands or suits arising from such use.

Spiritual Practices to Support Your Resilience, Well-being, and Coping in a Disaster or Emergency

 Alberta Health Services
Provincial Addiction
and Mental Health

Spirituality, Religion, and Spiritual Practices

Spirituality may be understood as the experience of the relationship we have with ourselves, others, and who or what we view as greater or ultimate. It's expressed through our beliefs, values, traditions, and practices which gives us a sense of meaning and purpose.

Religion is the shared beliefs, values, traditions, ethics, and practices of a specific community and how it's organized.

Both spirituality and religion have practices that can help us develop self-awareness, build resilience, and improve our overall well-being.

Spiritual well-being may be understood as the experience and meaning of the connection we have with ourselves, others, and who or what we view as greater or ultimate. Spiritual distress is the loss of this meaning and connection.

Resilience

Resilience is our ability to bounce back from setbacks, cope well with life's challenges, and adapt to change in healthy ways. Resilience is not something we have or don't have, it's something we work to build throughout life.

Spiritual resilience is our ability to maintain a sense of self and purpose through a set of beliefs, principles, or values. Spiritual resilience can help us find our way through and cope with experiences of spiritual distress.

Taking steps to look after our physical, mental, and spiritual well-being can help us build resilience, manage pressure, and reduce stress.

Using Spiritual Practices to Cope

During tough times, such as a disaster or emergency, spiritual practices can help us make sense of our world and can help us understand our need for self-care and self-expression. They can strengthen our relationships, improve social connections, and help us cope with change or loss. Here are a few examples of spiritual practices:

Self-Compassion is a practice to help us be kind, caring, and understanding to ourselves when we're having a hard time.

Gratitude is a practice that can help us to focus on what we have, rather than what we don't have.

Lament is a spiritual way to process suffering through expressing grief or loss, desire, trust, and gratitude.

Breath Meditation is an awareness practice that helps to bring us back to the present moment.

Contemplative Reading is a spiritual practice that opens us up to deeper connection and meaning or wisdom through reading short pieces of sacred or inspirational writing.

Finding the Feeling is a spiritual practice that helps us to recognize, experience, and understand our emotions.

Labyrinth Walking is a spiritual practice that helps us to be in the present moment through walking a single winding path with one entrance that leads to a centre and back out.

Mantras are a spiritual practice in which a sacred word or sentence is repeated over and over. It's a form of meditation that can support spiritual wellness and coping.

Taking and Sending is a spiritual practice that helps us see and acknowledge painful situations while creating meaningful connections with others.